$50m homes project

WORK has begun on a $50 million housing estate in Murray Bridge – a Pathways project featuring 240 homes.

Residential property developer AVJennings will convert 34ha of former farming land into housing.

Civil works have begun and the first land release is scheduled for later this year. New roads, services and stormwater drains are being constructed ready for the official launch of the development.

The name Pathways was chosen in recognition of the crucial link the River Murray provides for SA and the eastern states as well as a series of walkways and boardwalks in the estate layout.
